More info...

I've changed things a little this week. A few people wanted to see how they did on the previous contest, so I'm going to start including a link to a Google spreadsheet that will show everyone who entered and which ones they got right. Also, I'm giving away two prizes today! Last week, for the first time, I was able to stump everyone with #14. Nobody got it right. So, to the first person who gets #14 correct in the comments here, I will send a $25 Amazon gift certificate! Here it is: 14. Do

*Finding Time to Write a Book

Im often asked how I find time to write books and articles and develop new information products. When I started writing books, I used to carve out an hour or two each day. Today Im just too busy with commitments and family to keep this up so I have a new answer: chunks of time. Whenever I manage to carve out some extra time, I tackle a writing project. Most importantly, I SCHEDULE time to write. For me, this is a matter of completely checking out of my life and into a hotel! Yep, I have a co

Hotel Cleaning

Welcome to the Beach

PANAMA CITY BEACH Debi Knight grinned widely as she tap-danced on her new "virtual floor." Underfoot, a bright image of a freshwater pond projected from the ceiling onto a 6-by-8-foot area reacted to every step, with orange goldfish darting out of her way as she danced. Then, the computer-generated image shifted, and a gaggle of balls bounced and rolled around in reaction to Knight's footwork. Welcome to the new Greater Panama City Beaches Chamber of Commerce information center.
