

Want to know the secret to a Super Clean Hotel?

Contributed by Leslie Dasch

We'll tell you, but first let's get to the heart of the matter. If you're a senior hotel manager or director of housekeeping operations for a luxury hotel you will probably agree that keeping the hotel clean during the day is one challenge, but keeping it clean during the night, is a completely different issue.

Third shift cleaning is a growing concern for many hotel managers who staff it themselves. That's why the most successful managers choose to outsource their third shift staffing and cleaning needs to a subcontractor who specializes in janitorial, marble restoration, stone restoration and hard surface floor care.

Not only are senior hotel managers finding that by subcontracting their night cleaning needs they are reducing stress, but they are also saving time and money. This allows increased productivity from daytime staff, supervisors and management.

If you're like most fine hotels, you want to maintain a pristine appearance at all times, especially when your guests awaken. Many hotels are choosing to hire a professional third shift cleaning company like Rose Restoration International, Inc.

For 30 years, Rose Restoration has been successfully cleaning and maintaining hotel public areas. Kitchen cleaning, stone restoration, and tile and grout cleaning are among their specialties. Rose restoration performs cleaning services for some of the nation's finest hotels. Rose Restoration is known in the hotel industry for their commitment to satisfaction and desire to perform their services to your satisfaction.

Back in 1978, Richard Dasch, Founder and President of Rose Restoration International, Inc., left the hotel supply business to provide much needed marble and stone restoration for luxury hotels. Today, Richard Dasch is recognized as a pioneer in marble and stone restoration. As a result of their work in fine hotels, Rose Restoration expanded their services to address much needed night cleaning and janitorial services. Their attention to detail, and commitment to safety, has delighted hotel management and guests nationwide.

Rose Restoration is proud to provide proven third shift cleaning services to fine hotels everywhere. Contact Rose Restoration today to discover how easy it can be to bring the cleanliness of your hotel up to a new standard.

About the Author: Leslie Dasch is the VP of Marketing for Rose Restoration. For 30 years, Rose Restoration has performed fine Marble and Stone Restoration for some of the nations finest hotels, both modern and historical. Rose Restoration is proud to have polished marble in homes of 3 presidents, hundreds of Senators and Congressmen, ambassadors and our most important clients – people just like you. Your decision to choose Rose Restoration can be made with confidence. Our attention to detail and safety, and protection of your assets is what sets us apart from our competition.